CWIT voted "2005 Chapter of the Year"

CWIT PRESENTED "2005 CHAPTER OF THE YEAR AWARD" IN COPENHAGEN, DENMARK

CHARLESTON, SC (Aug 23, 2005) - Charleston Women in International Trade will be presented the "2005 Chapter of the Year Award" in Copenhagen, Denmark, at the Organization of Women In International Trade (OWIT) 2005 World Conference on November 2nd - 4th. This prestigious award is in recognition of the Chapter best demonstrating results towards advancement of women in international trade professions.

"We can't express how very excited we are regarding our Chapter's selection as the 2005 Chapter of the Year recipient," said CWIT's Chairperson Ann Watts. "This award is a direct result of our organization's focus on attracting strong leadership, excellent programs, membership retention and growth, financial strength, and continued support of OWIT. With over 2000 OWIT members and 37 chapters worldwide from which to select among, being chosen for this award is a great honor," said Watts.

"Serving as the first Chairperson of this Chapter, each and every member, past and present, has much to be proud of," says Jackie Adamson, CWIT's Immediate Past Chair and OWIT Representative. Ms. Adamson will travel in November to Copenhagen to accept the award.

CWIT was chartered in 2002 in Charleston, SC with fewer than 10 members. Our mission still holds true today; to enhance the status of women who work in the field of international trade by presenting educational and networking opportunities. To date, CWIT has grown to serve over 80 active members and hosts monthly meetings 10 times a year.
